

HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

INDEX TO PHOTOGRAPHS

FORT BARRY, BONITA RIDGE ACCESS ROAD, RETAINING WALL
HABS CA-2794-B
Golden Gate National Recreation Area
Point Bonita, Marin Headlands
Sausalito vicinity
Marin County
California

For additional contextual views and large format photographic copies of architectural drawings that contain the Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, see HABS CA-2794-A

INDEX TO BLACK AND WHITE PHOTOGRAPHS

William B. Dewey, photographer, July 2005

- | | |
|-------------|---|
| CA-2794-B-1 | Contextual view of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, showing concrete stairway and ramp with Army Fire Control Station (Buildings 621 and 622) at far left, camera facing southwest |
| CA-2794-B-2 | Oblique view of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, showing southernmost portion of intact wall and portion of concrete drainage ditch from Signal Corps Radar 296 Station 5 Transmitter Building foundation above, camera facing west-north |
| CA-2794-B-3 | View of middle portion of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, showing Signal Corps Radar 296 Station 5 Tower concrete pier (top center), camera facing northwest |
| CA-2794-B-4 | View of northern end of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, camera facing northwest |
| CA-2794-B-5 | Detail view of reinforced concrete of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall, camera facing northwest |

FORT BARRY, BONITA RIDGE ACCESS ROAD, RETAINING
HABS CA-2794-B
INDEX TO PHOTOGRAPHS
(Page 2)

CA-2794-B-6

Detail view of Bonita Ridge Access Road Retaining Wall showing drainpipes, camera facing northwest